FROM THE PASTOR

Stand in the Bright Light of Truth

We commonly equate the truth with light. When referring to someone who is ignorant of something we say, “He is in the dark.” Ideas or revelations are pictured with lightbulbs, as well as the phrase that “One has seen the light.” The Collect for the 13th Sunday of Ordinary Time reminds us that God, “through the grace of adoption chose us to be children of light” and prays, “that we may not be wrapped in the darkness of error but always be seen to stand in the bright light of truth.”

As we pray in the Act of Faith, God can “neither deceive nor be deceived,” so we must look elsewhere for the source of this “darkness of error.” We do not have to go any farther to find it than Lucifer, the bearer of light, who, in refusing in his pride to acknowledge the truth that God was God and he was not, introduced the darkness of error into the goodness of God’s creation. It did not take long for that darkness to overshadow Adam and Eve’s innocence as “the father of lies” (Jn 8:44) planted the first lie into the soil of doubt that he had prepared by asking the question, “Did God really tell you not to eat from any of the trees in the garden? (Gen 3:1) by telling them that God lied: “You certainly will not die!” (Gen 3:4). Adding to the darkness with the aim of closing the deal he proposed the lie that God was holding back something that was good, “your eyes will be opened, and you will be like gods who know what is good and what is bad” (Gen 3:5). As always happens when we begin to wander down the path of error, we lose our ability to distinguish this very thing.

One of the consequences of The Fall is that man, “is subject to error and inclined to evil in exercising his freedom” (CCC,1714). We deal with this all of the time. We may be quite learned in somethings and very ignorant in others; we may miss the mark a bit, or we may be way off believing something is true when it is not. That is why instructing the ignorant is one of the spiritual works of mercy. Our intellects were made to know the truth and it is an attack on a person’s dignity to be intentionally left in the dark. Yet, as we also know, sometimes people cling to the darkness: “And this is the verdict, that the light came into the world, but people preferred darkness to light, because their works were evil” (Jn 3:19).

So, what are we to do about this? Remember that the only will over which we have control is our own, so stand in the bright light of the truth and drink it in; absorb its beauty with humility, joy, and thanksgiving. People will be more open toward desiring the good they see than being condemned for the evil they may have embraced. Pray and be patient: “The fervent prayer of a righteous person is very powerful” (James 5:16); “Be patient, therefore, brothers, until the coming of the Lord” (James 5:7). And always remember that God is God and we are not, “What came to be through Him was life, and this life was the light of the human race; the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it” (John 1:3-5). And it never will. Fr. Michael J. Miller
